EXECUTIVE MAYOR DADA MORERO TO OFFICIALLY OPEN THE BRIXTON RESERVOIR AND WATER TOWER PROJECT

The Executive Mayor of the City of Johannesburg, Councillor Dada Morero, will officially open the newly completed Brixton Reservoir and Water Tower Project—marking a significant milestone in enhancing water security and infrastructure resilience for the city.

This critical infrastructure forms part of the Commando Water Supply System and will substantially improve water storage capacity, supply stability, and service reliability for residents, businesses, and key institutions. Notable beneficiaries include Rahima Moosa Mother and Child Hospital, Helen Joseph Hospital, the University of Johannesburg, and the South African Broadcasting Corporation.

The project comprises a 26-megalitre ground reservoir, a 2-megalitre elevated water tower, a 200-litre-per-second pump station, and associated pipeline infrastructure. In addition to improving service delivery, the project has supported local economic development by engaging 25 SMMEs and creating 86 job opportunities.

Media representatives are invited to attend and cover this important event.
